A resolution supporting the Crosby Commercial club in their invitation to the Northern Minnesota Editorial association to hold their summer convention in Crosby, was unanimously passed by the Chamber.

A resolution thanking the retiring officers and Dr. J. A. Thabes, president, in particular, was unanimously passed.

A report of the following committees were read and accepted: Committee on Finance, House and Social committee, secretary's report, Railroad, treasurer's report, Membership, Publicity, Public Affairs, Manufacturing, Health and Sanitation, Sewers, Drains and Ditches, Investigation, Agricultural, Retail Trade, Rivers and Navigation.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Chairman D. D. Schrader of the Membership committee for the successful drive just completed. His report indicated that approximately 150 new members have been secured and these with the renewals and old memberships would make a total of about 400 memberships.

The fact that a number of periodicals ordered by the Chamber of Commerce have not been coming regular for use on the reading room table, was brought up and on motion of Mr. Zappfe the matter was referred to the House and Social committee with the request that it be investigated and efforts be made to improve the reading room service.

The attention of the Chamber was called to the fact that a number were delinquent in the payment of their dues and the secretary was instructed to carry out the provisions in the constitution and by-laws in this respect and post names after delinquents have been duly notified.

The chair announced that annual election would be held and a recess taken for that purpose. In view of (Continued on page 6)

Call. Found Dead in Bed at his Home on North Side

WAS YARDMASTER 30 YEARS

Leaves a Wife and Daughter—Organized the G. A. R. Post at Staples—Member Duluth Elks

Jerry M. Glunt, age 70, former yardmaster of the Northern Pacific railroad at Brainerd, passed away early Thursday morning, having been found dead at his home, 319 North Ninth street.

He served 30 years as a yardmaster in Brainerd, retiring in 1914. He belonged to the Elks lodge of Duluth and to the G. A. R. of Staples, which latter post he organized.

He leaves a wife and daughter, Mrs. (Bertha) Noble Curry of Toledo, Ohio. The body will be buried at Council Bluffs, Iowa, where Mr. Glunt first resided and where a son, Harry, is buried.

Until further notice, the remains may be viewed at McNamara's chapel.

Mrs. Glunt is almost prostrated by the shock of her husband's death and a friend from Staples, Mrs. George Dudley, fortunately is with her in the hour of trial.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, has many acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Glunt. It was there on February 17, 1881, that he married Miss Jennie McGill.

When Mr. Glunt was succeeded in the yards, the "Brainerd Dispatch" published a commendatory article on the career and services of Mr. Glunt which appeared as follows:

On May 12, 1914, Jerry M. Glunt, Brainerd's popular yardmaster, would have served 30 years as yardmaster for the Northern Pacific railway. Mr. Glunt had always hoped to round out complete the 30 years, but yesterday he received a telegram notifying him that he had been relieved. He is succeeded by George E. Lowe of this city.

Mr. Glunt had had a long and honorable career in serving his country and in working for railway companies. He was born in Pittsburgh, Pa. in 1842. When the war of the Rebellion started Mr. Glunt enlisted in Knapp's battery, Independent Battery E, and served with distinction from June 7, 1862, until his discharge on June 14, 1865. He has been department commander at Staples several terms.

He ran his first yard at Pittsburgh, Pa. in 1867, working for the Pennsylvania, now known as the Pennsylvania Central. Then he took charge of the night yard at Columbus, Ohio, and here on December 11, 1873, he lost a thumb. From Columbus he went to Council Bluffs, Iowa, being yardmaster for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway. He was later assigned to Minneapolis and had charge of night mill yards.

He entered the employ of the Northern Pacific railway on May 12th, 1884, at Dickinson, N. D., as yardmaster and later took charge of the Mandan, N. D., yards on April 20, 1886. He came to Brainerd in April 1888, and was transferred to Staples in 1891. In October, 1902, he returned to Brainerd and has worked here continuously.

Mr. Glunt is married and his home circle has a wife and daughter. A son was called to his reward some years ago. The latter was breaking on the west end.

Citizens of Brainerd and railway men in general appreciate the fine qualities of Jerry M. Glunt. Pleasant and agreeable, active and efficient, Mr. Glunt loved his work and accordingly gave the company the best that was in him.

IN DISTRICT COURT

Case Charging Arson in Third Degree Against Three Defendants Is Now Being Tried

In district court a case charging arson in the third degree, by Sam Jackovich, owner of building, and Mike Vukovich and Bayo Remonovich, roomers, of a boarding house in West Park, Crosby, is on trial before Judge B. P. Wright.

Swanson & Swanson are attorneys for the defendants. It was first stated that Vic Powers of Hibbing would represent the defendants, but 10 days ago the Brainerd attorneys were substituted. The state's witnesses include two assistant state attorneys, Wm. Tourville and L. V. Conley, and others. The fire damaged the building, causing a partial loss. The state contends the building was over-insured, there being $2299 on building and $899 on furniture.

Might Be Worth It.

It is estimated that an expenditure of $100,000,000 would be required to equip the United States with all things necessary to bring its arms up to the highest possible production.

war veterans, Celebrated in Formal Style Wednesday

SEN. SWANSON, TOASTMASTER

Mayor F. E. Little Makes Address of Evening. Responses by Many Service Men

Gunard Erickson Post No. 10, World War Veterans, gave its first formal banquet and program on Wednesday evening at the Ransford hotel and the company of service men and invited guests filled the spacious dining room of the Ransford hotel, over 70 being present.

Near the speakers table flashed a big American flag and at the foot of the banquet table gleamed Old Glory again, both flags having been kindly loaned to the post by the Eagles lodge.

Menu

The menu was a splendid one and was embellished by war names added to the courses, as follows:

(Sokante-quin) Cream of Tomato (English Hard Tack) Waters (Shrapnel) (Hand Grenades) Dressed Celery Green Olives (Poulet a la Pershing style) Roast Spring Turkey with Dressing, Cranberry Sauce (Pomme de terre a la frit) Snowflake Potatoes (C. C.'s) Creamed Corn (H. E.) Fruit Salad (Made in America Only) Ice Cream and Cake (Jodine de l'air) Cafe Noir Cigarettes, Cigars, Etc.

Sen. Hilding Swanson

Senator Hilding Swanson officiated as toastmaster and expressed his pleasure at the honor shown him. He paid a tribute to Gunard Erickson, after whom the post was named. Erickson was a resident of Southeast Brainerd, enlisted, and made the supreme sacrifice when he was killed in action.

Senator Swanson reviewed the war briefly, its causes and the part played by America, and then took up problems of reconstruction.

He gave the history of the Minnesota bonus law and told of championing the bonus law at the previous session when his resolution, the first on the subject, incurred criticism and opposition of the whole senate.

Senator Swanson's idea was to get the bonus law through quickly and thus give the men their money when they most needed, directly after being released from the army.

Minnesota's bonus law as eventually adopted by the legislature and whose constitutionality was passed on by the state supreme court and the opinion written by Judge W. S. McClenahan of Brainerd, was most generous in its provisions, more so than many of the other states cited by Senator Swanson.

Mayor F. E. Little

Mayor F. E. Little congratulated the post on its fine attendance and the interest shown at this, its first annual banquet and reunion.

He praised the men for the part played in the war. They left their homes for camp and far off shores to fight for home and country and well and gallantly did they play their parts evincing true courage and citizenship and learning deeply the meaning of the same.

"Conduct your organization in such manner that its work will reflect the high order and patriotism shown in those days when the war clouds hung over this land," said the mayor. The soldier in camp and in battle line offered his all for his country and as such made a great sacrifice and his heroism is appreciated.

In closing he quoted a poem which glorified the citizenship in arms which saved home and friends from the foe.

Telegrams Read

Telegrams were read supposed to have been written by General Pershing, Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Secretary of War Baker. They were all witty and to the point and had a "Washington Gridiron Club" flavor.

Music of the Evening

The soloist of the evening was the tenor, Roland G. Jenkins. He was in good voice and all his selections from "Freckles" to the finish gained heavy applause, particularly when he sang an original composition. In one of his songs he sang second tenor to his little son's first tenor, the lad being Roland Jr. The piano accompaniments were played by Louis O. Johnson.

Other Speakers

John A. Hoffbauer of the Dispatch, thanked the post for its courtesy in asking him to attend the banquet, thanked the veterans for the letters communion, they had rendered.

John Sundberg was asked to compare German and French girls and said briefly: "See America first."

Tony Anderson, severely wounded in the war, told of experiences at the front. The boys took things as they came and labored their best to end the conflict.

John Giles, Jr., lately married in Staples, told of navy life. He was 22 months across. "The navy is all right," said he, "but I'd rather be back where I am at my job in the boiler shop."

Ole Olson of the Marines was sorry he didn't get over. "It's a great life. If you don't we'll see it."

George Hansson told of service in the Marines at Vera Cruz and the Nicaraguan intervention. In the world war he served as an instructor.

Wallace Olson, who was wounded in service, said the war was a great experience.

Henry Ryan was shaken up by shells a little, but it was no worse experience, said he, than what was handed the "squads east and west" over here.

Fred Britton told of officers' training camp experiences at Fort Snelling. He was anxious to serve in spite of having a large family. It hurt him deeply when a commission was refused him and he had to return home.

Anton Swanson told of his first range shooting experience. Orders came so quickly to "Fire" and "Cease Firing" that he was shooting when the rest had quit.

Al Englund, corresponding and recording secretary of the post, said he was glad to see so many boys present. He had been overseas service.

Carl Franzen told of enlisting and in six months' service spent four months in France.

Pres. Geo. E. Fricker

President George E. Fricker of the post in conclusion voiced his pleasure at the large attendance of post members, expressed the gratitude of the post for what Senator Swanson had done to secure passage of the bonus law, thanked Mayor Little and other speakers for their addresses. Messrs. Jenkins and Johnson for the musical numbers.

The War Veteran Post in Brainerd, said he, was started the latter part of September and today had 26 men on its rolls. More comrades would join soon. Some were working at night or were out of town, thus having been unable to be present at the banquet.

Bonus Law Payments

"Bonus law payments," said Senator Swanson in response to a query,

Moment the National Prohibition Amendment becomes Effective

A Force of 1400 Special Agent in Addition to Regular Federal Officers Will Enforce It Strictly

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 16—Constitutional prohibition—the dream of reformers for more than a century—becomes a reality one minute after midnight tonight in every nook and corner all over the United States.

A force of 1,400 special prohibition agents backed by other government officials, will start to enforce to the letter the constitutional law. War time prohibition had many leaks, but the nation will be bone dry under the amendment. Daniel Roper, commissioner of internal revenue predicted today, the Volstead law as applied to constitutional prohibition, gives the government much greater power.

The first work of enforcing the amendment will be to demand complete inventory of all liquors in the country. All holders of liquor except in private homes for their own use, must be reported immediately to the bureau of internal revenue.

There are heavy penalties for failure to do so. Preliminary reports indicate there are huge stocks still in the country, the owners having failed to export any large quantity. The bureau today estimated that there are 60,000,000 gallons of whiskey in the country, or only a few million less than at the time the supreme court decided hope for sale in this country by upholding war time prohibition on Dec. 15.

Carl B. Storrs Attempts Suicide

Minneapolis, Jan. 16—Caryl B. Storrs was a prominent dramatic and actor of Serbia last year, shot himself with an army revolver in front of his mirror in his room here early today and is near death. Friends said he contracted a malady something like typhus while abroad. Storrs was a prominent dramatic and musical critic.

THOUGHT

Bestowed on Them Has Found to Pay in More Ways Than One.

In course of the clean-up and paint-up movement, which produced good results in many towns and cities, repairs of all sorts were brought about. The householder who looked over his property in the spring, with a view of merely removing rubbish from back yards and alleys, found that there was much to be done, and as a result of recent experiences in war economies has been inclined to study methods of saving.

One of the interesting features of the "paint-up" activities has been unusual care in choosing colors. Since the ending of the war a wide scale of colors is again offered, and more attention than at any previous time has been paid to general effect, according to reports received by the own-your-home section, information and education service, United States department of labor. Roofs have been recognized as important in the color schemes, artistic results being obtained by the use of paint in harmonizing or contrasting hues.

As a matter of conservation in the clean-up and paint-up campaigns the repair of roofs has been studied and various methods have been employed to prevent the expense and labor of replacing wooden shingles. Preparations of asphalt are now commonly employed, for they have the advantage of recommending themselves to fire insurance companies and they are inexpensive. In several cities the slogan, "Save the old wooden shingles" has been incorporated with the regular paint-up and clean-up watchwords.

ROOTED DISLIKE FOR JAPS

Chinese Look With Suspicious Eyes on Actions of the Subjects of the Mikado.

It was in the quaint, terraced city of Foochow, China. The bearers of my sedan chair pointed out to me a fine gray building against the hillside and exhausted their collective store of English trying to tell me what it was.

"Japanese hospital," said one, with a knowing air, as if he could say more if he would.

"To cure sick Japanese?" I asked, wondering whether there was a sufficiently large colony to support an institution of such size.

It took some time for this question to percolate through their heads. When at last it did so, there was more excitement in their answers than mere statements of facts would warrant.

"Japanese make Chinese well. Japanese say 'Chinese man—him very sick; must make well.'"

There was inarticulate sarcasm in their manner. At last one of them found the English he was after, and came out with it: "Japanese no love Chinese man," he said. "Then why make Chinese man well?"

It seems that Japanese were beginning to realize that American philanthropy, represented by the missions and by the Rockefeller foundation, was creating good-will for the United States. So they, too, decided to become philanthropists, and some fine Japanese hospitals for the Chinese were the result. The Chinese, however, still distrust the move. They cannot be sure that it has the genuine unselfishness of Christian propaganda. They tell tales about machine guns concealed in the hospitals and soldiers who reconnoiter by night. I never heard these rumors substantiated, but I did meet a seemingly benevolent young surgeon and a Japanese nurse with the sweetest face in the world.—Marjorie Barstow in World Outlook.

"Dr. X" amnesia victim, who on Dec. 22 was found wandering in tatters near Lambertville, N. J., is a mystery no longer. He has been identified as Dr. John L. Brand of Worcester, Mass., by his son, a lieutenant commander in the United States navy and a naval constructor at Philadelphia navy yard. The naval officer said his father, who was an accomplished physician, disappeared three years ago while engaged in research work. He is sixty-four years old and has a wife and daughter in Worcester. As yet Dr. Brand has not recognized his son.

Appropos our recent photograph on feats performed by armless men, a contributor, who lost his right arm when he was a youth, sends an interesting account of the ingenious manner in which he carries on in spite of his handicap.

"I get up at seven o'clock," he says, "wash, shave, scrub my finger-nails by holding a small nail-brush between my teeth, and dress myself without any help. To fill a pipe and strike a match is an easy matter, while years ago I learned to write with my left hand."

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

Chinaman.

It is the custom of the Chinese to burn various kinds of effigies at the funeral ceremonies of the rich, and the more wealthy the departed the more elaborate the figures burned over his grave. These effigies represent every manner of thing, such as human figures, horses, sedan chairs, tables loaded with money, etc.

At the funeral of a Mr. Li, who died a short time ago in Tientsin, and who was a very wealthy man, the bereaved family outdid themselves, and made an imitation of the deceased gentleman's automobile, to be burned at his grave. The effigy was made entirely of strong Chinese paper stretched on bamboo frames. The car was complete in every detail, the pedals accurately placed, and all made of paper and bamboo.

The interior of the car was also accurate in detail, being carefully upholstered in paper. The car was carried about three miles through crowded streets to the graveside, where a match was applied, and it was consumed in a few minutes.

Kidneys

St. Paul, Minn.:—I was troubled with disordered kidneys for about two years—my back ached terribly, side pained and I had frequent excretions. I let it run on until I read of Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric acid). I took the Anuric but a short time when I was feeling fine. My side and back stopped paining, and kidneys acted normally. I could sleep well at night which I couldn't do before. I certainly advise any one suffering from kidney disorders to use the Anuric Tablets."—Mrs. LOUISE GILFILLAN, 289 State St.

The kidneys and bladder suffer from the wear and tear and we get chronic inflammations sometimes indicated by backache, painful voiding of water—dull, heavy feelings. Perhaps the uric acid is stored up in the system in excessive amount, and consequently when the urate salts are deposited in muscles and joints one suffers from lumbago (pain in back), rheumatic pains, gout, etc.

Nothing will act so nicely as "Anuric" (anti-uric acid), a recent discovery of Dr. Pierce's which can be had at all drug stores. "Anuric" washes away the poisons, cleanses the bladder and kidneys—rendering them antiseptic—consequently one is soon cured of lumbago, rheumatism, gout, and the body is put into a clean, healthy state.

"Cakes and Beer, and Washing Here"

Before a ramshackle house in a little New England village there used to hang this sign:

"Hiram, the widow's son, I hope
"Can furnish customers with soap,
"Such as will make the washing day
"Pass off as pleasant, e'en as May.
"Cakes, and beer, and washing here."

Hiram had the right idea. He knew that there were people who wanted what he had to sell. The difference between Hiram and the modern advertiser is that the former had to trust to somebody passing on to see his sign. He could not bring his sign to everybody.

The modern advertiser with something to sell that he feels you want, saves you the trouble of going to his place to see about it. Readers of advertisements visit all the advertisers at a single sitting.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS FORMALLY CAME INTO EXISTENCE TODAY

First Meeting Convened at 10 A. M. in Paris in Famous Clock Room of Foreign Office

Leon Burgeois, French
Member of the Council,
Was Elected First
President of the League

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Jan. 16.—The league of nations became a reality today.

Leon Burgeois of France was elected permanent president of the league of nations council at the conclusion of the first meeting today. The session convened at 10:35 A. M. in the famous clock room of the French foreign office and adjourned at 11:50 A. M. Leon Burgeois, as president of the French society for the league of nations, and president of the senate, presided and delivered the opening address, followed by Earl Curzon of Great Britain, secretary of state for foreign affairs.

Immediately after the session convened Burgeois was elected temporary president.

"The league of nations has been allotted several distinguished tasks," Burgeois said in his opening address. "First is the practical execution of the treaty of Versailles. Then the constitution provides for an international organization for the regulation of economical and social life that will form the foundation for the new era now opened, and the international regulation of labor intended to insure the welfare of workers, and social peace toward which much has been accomplished."

The president then took up the questions which the council must settle immediately under the terms of the peace treaty and league covenant.

"Organization of the league of nations will not be completed until an assembly until all of the states come together," Burgeois continued.

"Among the states invited to join within two months after the treaty of peace becomes effective are Spain, Argentina, Paraguay, Chili and Persia, who already have accepted."

Even if the league thus remains incomplete until a later date, today's meeting bears the character of the first solemn act that will go down as a date of the birth of a new world. This decision is to be taken in the name of the states. It will be the first decree of all fixed free nations leaguely themselves together for the first time in history of the world to substitute right for might."

Referring to the failure of the United States to ratify the treaty Burgeois said:

"The task of presiding at this meeting and the inauguration of the cause of the international institution should have fallen to President Woodrow Wilson." "We respect the reason which still delays our Washington friend, but we sincerely hope these will soon be overcome and a representative of the United States will occupy a place among us."

"The council will than assume that definite character and that particular force which should associate with our work."

Closing his address the French leader said solemnly:

"With eyes fixed on distance but with our feet on the solid ground of political and social relations, we are creating a world in which this league can develop a spirit of justice and peace."

Viscount Grey arrived late and entered the clock room some time after the ceremony had started.

Leon Burgeois greeted Viscount Grey as one of the fathers of the league. Mr. Grey said he considered it the greatest honor to be present on the occasion.

Earl Curzon, who spoke following Burgeois, emphasized the necessity of doing away with the old secret diplomacy.

The scene in the clock room was in marked contrast when the first session of the league council came together eleven months ago when the league idea was born.

At that time President Wilson and the American delegates were the most dominating and powerful. Today the

Bryan Trying To Secure Treaty Action

Urges Democrats to Ratify on Republican Terms Rather Than Not at All

L. C. MARTIN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Jan. 16.—Wm. J. Bryan today continued his campaign among the democratic senators for immediate ratification of the peace treaty through a democratic surrender to republicans if no other way is possible. Mr. Bryan, who came to Washington late yesterday, was scheduled to see most of the senators today.

Democrats who attended the conference late yesterday with Senator Lodge and other republicans in Mr. Lodge's office, today held discussions with their colleagues. Certain changes in the Lodge reservations were suggested at the meeting. They are to hold their second conference with Senator Lodge on Saturday. Senators who attended the conference declined to discuss the details of the suggested changes.

Ratify Treaty to Help Business

Urged Wm. Colver, a Member of the Federal Trade Commission in a Public Address

(By United Press)

New York, Jan. 16.—Ratification of the peace treaty by the United States as a remedy for unsettled business and commercial conditions was urged by William Colver, member of the federal trade commission, in a speech before the national wholesale dry goods association. Other measures which were to tend to stabilize conditions he said were extension of credit to foreign buyers, elimination of over-stimulated wages, and over-stimulation of "capitalization of expectation" and revision of revenue laws.

French Election Tomorrow for President Will be Very Close Test Vote Shows

(By United Press)

Paris, Jan. 16.—In a test of strength at the Plenary caucus of senate and deputies today prior to tomorrow's election, Paul Deschanel polled 408 votes for president to 389 for Premier Clemenceau.

The total membership of both the houses was not represented in the vote. The result of the ballots indicate a very close contest in the election tomorrow at Versailles. 822 members out of the total of 940 voted.

Paris, Jan. 16.—Premier Clemenceau today formally announced his candidacy for president of France. Paul Deschanel, president of the Chamber of Deputies, will be his only opponent it was indicated. The election will be held at Versailles tomorrow. President Poincaré and Leon Von Burgois followed with the announcement they will not be candidates. There will be a meeting of the joint session of the Chamber this afternoon.

The three hundred bandits attacked the port in three columns and were immediately conquered by the Marines and driven back. More than fifty per cent of them were either killed, wounded or captured. Private M. Coombs was seriously wounded and Private F. McLaughlin was slightly wounded.

Coal Operators Charge Attempted Nationalization of Mines

Miners Officials Deny This, Saying
Their Efforts are Directed to Getting Adequate Pay

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 16.—Coal miners officials today refuted the charge by coal operators that an attempt was being made to bring about nationalization of the mines.

"It is absolutely unfounded," said Acting President John Lewis, of the United Mine Workers.

The operators are trying to confuse the issue in the minds of the people. Nationalization of the mines has nothing to do with the issue at hand.

Operators charged that miners in presenting evidence before President Wilson's coal commission, were trying to prolong the inquiry into the demand for higher wages and shorter hours by asking an investigation of conditions which were settled by old time contracts, the ultimate object being nationalization.

Half Billion Turn Over in Real Estate

And Farm Lands Predicted in Minnesota by Real Estate Men in Convention in St. Paul

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 16.—A $500,000,000 turnover in farm lands and city property is predicted for Minnesota this year. Such a volume of business would exceed anything that has ever occurred in the past, and would be a considerable increase over last year which is considered the banner real estate year of Minnesota. This is the view of delegates attending the second annual convention of the Minnesota realty owners and dealers association which opened yesterday morning at the St. Paul hotel. Real estate men from all parts of the state said a vast number of inquiries were received at this time of the year for real estate.

A Force of 1400 Special Agent in Addition to Regular Federal Officers Will Enforce
It Strictly

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 16.—Constitutional prohibition—the dream of reformers for more than a century—becomes a reality one minute after midnight tonight in every nook and corner all over the United States.

A force of 1,400 special prohibition agents backed by other government officials, will start to enforce to the letter the constitutional law. War time prohibition had many leaks, but the nation will be bone dry under the amendment. Daniel Roper, commissioner of internal revenue predicted today, the Volstead law as applied to constitutional prohibition, gives the government much greater power.

The first work of enforcing the amendment will be to demand complete inventory of all liquors in the country. All holders of liquor except in private homes for their own use, must be reported immediately to the bureau of internal revenue. There are heavy penalties for failure to do so. Preliminary reports indicate there are huge stocks still in the country, the owners having failed to export any large quantity. The bureau today estimated that there are 60,000,000 gallons of whiskey in the country, or only a few million less than at the time the supreme court dispelled hope for sale in this country by upholding war time prohibition on Dec. 15.

Covered Them All.
At Leicester, England, there is an inn upon the wall of which years ago a pastor wrote: "I pray for all." The village lawyer, seeing in this a means for free advertising, wrote underneath: "I plead for all." One day a farmer thought he was justified in adding: "I feed all," and an army officer passing through the village left: "I fight for all." But an unknown author added the last line by writing: "I take them all—the devil!"
The host, not wishing to show any partiality, has hung out his sign:
"The House of All-Five."

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffling, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache;
no struggling for breath at night.
Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the swollen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.

BRAINERD WOMEN'S COMMUNITY COUNCIL

Plan to Put on an Educational Drive in Interests of Social Hygiene in City

U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Object is to Reach all Boys and Girls of High School Age, Parents, Teachers, Etc.

Under the auspices of the Brainerd Women's Community Council, a number of representative citizens met in the Chamber of Commerce club rooms Monday afternoon to consider the advisability of putting on an educational drive in the city along the line of social hygiene. These drives have been inaugurated by the U. S. Public Health Service and have been adopted by a large number of states.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. C. Rasch, after which Miss R. Mabel Williams gave a clear outline of the plan of the work to be carried out, the greater part of which will be done by an exhibit of placards and of picture films. It is the object of the campaign to reach all boys and girls of high school age and such rural ones as circumstances will permit, together with the parents and teachers of the community.

The chairman then called on Dr. A. W. Ide for an expression of his opinion. The doctor said he was thoroughly in sympathy with the plan as outlined, that the exhibits and films which had been shown along these lines, for the enlightenment of the soldiers when in camp, had proved highly beneficial. He believed all should cooperate in making this drive a success.

After general discussion by those present, W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools, suggested that a rising vote of those favoring the plan, be taken. This vote showed unanimous approval. The following appointments were then made: Rev. W. J. Lowrie to act as general chairman; a film committee composed of Messrs. Frank G. Hall, City Atty. D. H. Fullerton and Secretary D. T. Lawrence of the Y. M. C. A. The drive is scheduled for Jan. 22nd, 23rd and 24th. The placards for boys over sixteen to be exhibited at the Y. M. C. A. For girls over sixteen at the Library.

No Charge for Exhibits
No admittance will be charged for the exhibits or films given for the social hygiene drive next week, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The running expenses are being financed by the Parent-Teachers association in the various parts of the city.

The Lowell association is giving a silver tea, the early part of next week, the Harrison and Whittier are circulating papers asking for dimes, this means being found very successful, and the Lincoln organization is completing plans to take care of its part.

Birthday Party

Mrs. A. P. Sorenson entertained a party of twenty guests on Tuesday afternoon on the occasion of her mother's birthday, Mrs. Hannah Olson being 76 years old. A three-course dinner was served at 5 o'clock. She received many pretty gifts which included flowers, etc., and the congratulatory letters came from many places, several from far-off Norway friends and relatives.

Mickelson-Markvardsen

On Jan. 10th the marriage of Miss Jennie Mickelson to Peter Markvardsen was solemnized at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran parsonage, Rev. E. R. Rorem, officiating. Good wishes are extended the happy couple.

HOB-NOB CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

Members Held a Meeting at the Citizens State Bank Hall on Wednesday Evening

THE MEMBERSHIP IS LIMITED

Dancing and Refreshments—Club to Give a Leap Year Valentine Party Feb. 2

The Hob Nob club, quiescent for some time, has been re-organized following a meeting held Wednesday evening at the Citizens State bank hall. By resolution adopted, the membership is restricted to twenty. After the business session and election of officers there was dancing and refreshments were served.

The Hob Nobs first event in their social calendar will be a Leap Year Valentine party on Monday evening, February 2. It will be a very formal affair and invitations will be issued.

PARENT-TEACHERS

Meeting Held at the Whittier School on Tuesday Evening, Interesting Program Given

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Whittier school met Tuesday evening, Jan. 13th.

Wm. Rodenkirchen, Miss Irene Evans and Albert Berthume opened the program with two pleasing trios for cello, violin and piano. The first number was "Take George Lyle" by H. E. Tremain and the encore "Chansons Paroles" opus 40 by P. Tschalkowsky.

Carl Zapffe talked informally and made a plea for the children being taught more about matters pertaining to their community and the development of latent powers of observation. The subject of this address was discussed by Rev. Fred Errington.

Mrs. Mal Clark concluded the program with two delightfully interpreted songs "Bird of Love Divine" by Hayden Wood, and "Smilin' Through" by Arthur Penn, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Walter Wieland.

Several topics of interest were discussed by members of the association after the program. Mrs. W. W. Bane gave an outline of what was accomplished at the recent clinic for children held in the city. Mrs. W. H. Gammell talked of the coming campaign in the interest of social hygiene. Plans were made to meet the expenses which will be incurred in procuring the film to be used in this drive.

Young Peoples Meeting

The Young Peoples society meeting of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ulfseth on Thursday evening and the following officers were elected:

President—Knut Thoe.
Vice-President—Ole Larson.
Secretary—Geo. Peterson.
Treasurer—Lars Swelland.

After the election of officers and program the society presented Mr. and Mrs. Lars Swelland with some beautiful silverware. Rev. E. R. Rorem made the presentation speech.

Confirmation Class

A class of ten young people, having received instruction in the word of God, will receive the blessing of the church at the confirmation services to be held for them on Sunday morning at the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church. The good example of these young people who have volunteered to take biblical instruction for confirmation, will serve as an inspiration to many to remember now their Creator in the days of their youth.

Restricted Chinese Immigration.

In 1894, on Dec. 7, a convention regulating Chinese immigration was ratified by the United States and China. This agreement prohibited the immigration of Chinese laborers to the United States, but admitted officials, students, merchants and travelers. American laborers at the same time were barred from China.

Hands Up, She Routed Bank Robbers by Ringing Alarm With Her Foot

Four armed bandits who sought to rob the First National Bank of Lockland, Ohio, of $60,000, were routed by Miss Marie Brockmeier. Three of the robbers ordered the eight employees and three depositors to throw up their hands. While the fourth was fumbling with the door of the vault, Miss Brockmeier quietly placed her foot on a button on the bottom of her desk, thus releasing the burglar alarm on the outside of the building. The four bandits, startled by the clanging of the gong, rushed from the bank to an automobile in which were two more men and the six made their escape.

Cuba Starts War on Rats.

The Cuban sanitation authorities have undertaken a vigorous campaign against the rat pest to prevent the bubonic plague from entering Cuba. Thousands of traps have been set and every precaution is being taken. Ships coming from ports under suspicion will not be permitted to unload at the wharves, but must discharge their cargoes by means of lighters or launches while anchored in the harbor, thereby lessening the possibility of plague-carrying rats reaching shore.

Ashes Make Good Fertilizers.

The technical authorities for the restoration of France and Belgium announce that they have discovered that furnace ashes from glass, iron and steel works stimulate vegetable growth enormously through carbonic acid fertilization. All plant life is said to be spurred to unusual growth. These ashes may be applied to restoration of the devastated districts.

Royal Railroad Engineer.

LIKE DYED LACES

Vogue for Color in Every Type of Feminine Garment.

Decoration Is Being Generously Used for the High Lights of the Costume.

It may sound at first like painting the lily to talk about dyed lace, but in the tremendous vogue for brilliant color in every type of feminine garment it is not a bit surprising. After the first shock it is pleasant, in fact, to see a georgette blouse, for instance, in what is called "new" blue velvelling, an underblouse of tomato red flit lace allowed to show in the front in flit fashion.

Lace is being used extensively for the high lights of the costume. It appears, for example, in silver to lighten up a frock of navy blue georgette. The stiff silver lace encircles the hips, giving the fashionable outstanding line, and is veiled by just one layer of the soft georgette. It edges the neck and short sleeves of the same frock.

Cafe au lait Lyons lace is used as a foil in a blouse which is lined with black chiffon and has a grille of black net tying in a bow at the back. One of the loveliest of evening gowns is entirely of gray lace with the inevitable bright color touch in the orange ostrich pompon at one side.

Perhaps flit lace lends itself best to dyeing, but all the fine laces are no exception to the new ruling. Sometimes several laces are combined on one blouse. Flit lace dyed a bright orange, for example, makes flounces over the shoulders of a shadow lace blouse dyed brown with sleeves of net in the same dark brown.

To lighten up the darker laces, the navy blue, black and brown tinted ribbons are used. Little folded flowers of it, tiny bows and narrow twisted girdles, all serve to add to the dressiness of the dyed lace blouse or frock. Heads, too, are being used to bring out the richness of dyed lace. Often they contrast with the lace, repeating the deep color of the chiffon lining or they work out the pattern of the lace itself. Metal threads are also used to bring out the lace pattern from its dusky background. Where a whole blouse of lace would be too thin and delicate to top the suit skirt, jumper blouses are made of velvet on silk duvetyn to bring the dyed laciness down to earth.

WOOL CAP AND SCARF OUTFIT

Quite the thing this season, this wool scarf with cap to match. This one is white and strongly appeals to the majority of girls.

COLORS FOR HATS

Brilliance Is More Pronounced Than in Recent Seasons.

Wide Brim Effects to Accompany Wide-Skirted Frocks—Tams Are Much in Favor.

Hats this season have more color than has been noted in recent seasons, and many are wide of brim to accompany the wide-skirted frocks and suits of the Louis XV period.

The small hat, however, has not been displaced from its position of prominence.

Many attractive turban models are made from duvetyn. One immensely smart turban was of creamy white duvetyn trimmed with black coque feathers placed at the top of the crown. Falling furs and street dress and even the wide-skirted frocks of the Louis days, which some Parisiennes are amusing themselves by wearing in the evening, were always worn with a small coiffure, making them much more attractive from an artistic standpoint than the exaggerated headdress of Louis XVI.

The cloche, which has been almost a uniform shape in Paris, is frequently seen. The turban in some form or another, is always liked and is made of various materials. The small hat with narrow brim rolling sharply up against the crown all around, or at the side, is another good model.

The tam-o'-shanter is still much in favor. The crowns of these tams have rather less fullness than is usual in such shapes. One noted in pale yellow beaver was fashioned with brim all around. Directly at the front underneath the crown was placed a jade ornament.

The beret and tricorne by rights belong to the fashions of the eighteenth century, and therefore many of them are likely to be seen this winter. The beret appears in a large version with great width at the sides. A very lovely example of myrtle green velvet seemed almost to conceal the face of the wearer at the right side and flared up widely at the left.

There is a tendency, a bit daring, and not too general, to tip the hats over the forehead as they used to be worn about ten years ago.

A winsome small hat of cream velvet in cap effect is embroidered with seed pearls. It is regarded as one of the favorites for winter wear.

WORE OLD DUTCH HEADGEAR

Rochester Woman Excited Comment by Appearing in Court With Picturesque Adornment.

The costume of Mrs. Julia Vos in a Rochester court excited much attention. Mrs. Vos is the grandmother of two children over whom there was litigation after the parting of their parents. The aged woman is a native of Friesland, Holland.

She appeared in court with an old Dutch headgear that would have delighted the heart of the painter Van Dyck. On the sides of her coiffeur were two thin gold plates bound tightly to her head which kept her hair pressed close above her ears. The plates are slightly concave, of the finest old burnished gold and fitted the contour of her head. Over her gold plates was an old Friesland lace bonnet, ivory colored from age, a treasure of her maiden days. The little frilled lace visor in front of the bonnet was a marvel of the lace maker's art, and a 6-inch full made of some stiffened material like outlines net fanned out behind her neck and over her shoulders like a ruffle of Sir Walter Raleigh. In a quaint observance of the customs of the land of her adoption Mrs. Vos had surmounted her artistic headgear with a flagrant black high-cocked bonnet. The old world touched the new on Mrs. Vos' head, with the artistic odds greatly against the new.

The Case Stated.

"The young heiress is taking a course of domestic science. And yet with all her money she doesn't have to be a good breadmaker."

"No, she doesn't have to, but she intends to be."

"I guess that is because she was tongue-tied when she was little."—Baltimore American.

GAVE "SHOW" UNDER GUARD

Peculiar Experience of American Musical Comedy Company in the City of Vladivostok.

A belated story of how an American musical comedy company which had volunteered to give an entertainment for the troops at Vladivostok was caught in that city while the "reds" held sway, has been received by the Knights of Columbus from Garry McGarry, who is in charge of the welfare activities of the order in Siberia. The troupe was in charge of W. R. Bandvard and had come from China to the Russian seaport, where they were held up for several weeks awaiting a steamer.

During their stay, every one went around with a revolver, and the city took on the appearance of a western "boom" town in pioneer days. During the period the bolsheviks killed about 22 persons, and many of the actors had narrow escapes. Several of the women actresses had to be taken to and from the theater guarded by a squad of allied soldiers, and at the hotel where they stayed a guard was constantly posted. However, the American troupe "carried on" for the doughboys amid all the panoply of war and revolution. There were armed soldiers inside the theater, outside, behind the scenes, and in the box office. All the audience brought their rifles with them or carried side arms and hand grenades.—Chicago Post.

SCORPION ON BABOON'S MENU

Animal Seems to Consider Insect a Delicacy and Consumes It With Much Relish.

The chaema baboon of South Africa is very partial to certain kinds of animal food—scorpions, spiders, centipedes, insects, lizards and the eggs of wild birds all being eaten with relish. The scorpion is evidently regarded as a tidbit. If one is released near a captive baboon, the latter will hold its hand extended over the prey until a suitable opportunity for attack offers. Then the hand will descend with a sweeping slap, which is followed by a swift, circular, rubbing motion. This disabes the scorpion, which is then picked up and carefully examined until the sting is located. The latter is then picked out between finger and thumb and thrown away as far as possible, after which the scorpion is manched with every appearance of satisfaction.—William C. Scully, in Atlantic Monthly.

Harmless Superstitions.

Everybody is superstitious and generally our superstitions are trivial and do no harm. To carry a coin in the pocket for luck; to comment about seeing the moon over the left shoulder, to refuse to walk under a ladder; to believe that it is bad luck to turn back; to make a wish at the appearance of the first star of the evening; to suppose it is not well to break a mirror, which it isn't well to do. But the point is, everybody is superstitious, regardless of what he says about it. He may not really know that he is superstitious; he may be honest in believing that he is not. But the fact remains that superstition was bred into the race away back in the jungle, where little was understood, where importance was attached to the shape of the clouds, where trees and stones and mountains and rivers had a personality—and we can't get it out of the system.

An All-Nations Case.

John Pappas, a Greek, has been arrested on a charge of grand larceny. Habib Heide, a Turk, makes the accusation. Heide had some Russian money, how much he doesn't know. He exchanged it for 100 English sovereigns. An Italian friend introduced him to Pappas, the Greek. A trip through the botanical gardens was undertaken. During the walk a man who looked like a Swede and who talked like a Swede appeared and assumed the role of hold-up man. Pappas didn't help, said the Turk. Detective Hagerty, an Irishman, arrested the Greek. The preliminary hearing was held next morning before a magistrate who was born in Wales.—New York Times.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS

PAULA'S WAY

By AGNES G. BROGAN.

Paula, drawing the curtains of her studio window on a rainy evening, looked down with a wistful smile into the street. Her tall lonely neighbor was striding along through the storm to the house doorway, his soft hat shedding tiny rivulets of water, various paper bundles beneath one arm betokening his bachelor supper.

The girl turned with a sigh to the cozy comfort of her womanly appointed room, the rose-colored light of the shaded lamp, the blazing logs on the hearth—of what had been an old-time mansion.

Now the great house was given over to workers in the world of business, a doctor's office here, a dentist's there, and on this particular high floor, studios of various kinds.

Paula's own particular realm was a "music studio." She had come to the teeming city with high ambition. She would be one of the great musicians of the day—and now little Paula had grown to be content with her lot as humble instructor.

The classes which came at regular hours provided her with this small home and the necessities of life, and though the career of brilliant promise faded, still there was much to bring her joy. She loved every child who climbed the steep stairs to receive her instruction. She loved the old Irish woman who came to clean up mornings. Paula had even a smile for the crotchety janitor.

Every soul in the old building loved Paula, so how could the young illustrator escape who moved in across the hall? After he realized the intense enjoyment the girl's society gave him, Jack Lanse determinedly denied himself from it. Who was he, in his self-imposed poverty, that he might seriously care for any woman? Marriage was as hopeless in his present circumstances as his chosen career was proving to be.

It was just as his shrewd, tiresome old uncle had prophesied—if Jack persisted in depending upon his drawings as a means of livelihood he would be disappointed. Jack was disappointed; but still doggedly determined in his profession. He would be an illustrator. He knew that it was in him, so the proffered place in his uncle's business concern was refused, and Jack himself brought to the cold reality of self-prepared meals in a sky-lighted room.

His room looked unusually cheerless this rainy evening as he flung wide the door, when suddenly an opposite door opened and in the lamplight stood the girl, against whom he had resolved to close his heart.

"Poor Jackie!" she said whimsically, "all wet and cold. You'd better come in by my fire while yours is heating up. And tell me, any luck today?"

"Thanks," Jack began stiffly. "I will be all right here—"

"You won't," interrupted Paula decidedly, "and I can't afford to let you run the risk of taking cold. Who would look after you if you were sick? No one but me—and I'm too busy."

"Paula, Paula!" murmured Jack tenderly, and smiled as he yielded.

"There might be an opening with Brown's Magazine," he told her, seated before the blazing logs, "if I could keep things going until I got my start. Jove! If only one would give me a part of that legacy before he dies, I'm in for the whole thing, you know, and I'm not wishing on dead men. But now—"

Paula nodded understandingly. "I know," she said, "it's like old Aunt Riah. I'm to be Aunt Riah's heir some day. In the meantime she ignores my existence and I have to play scales for my dinner."

The man rose abruptly. "Paula," he said, "I'm going to give up this striving for—what I thought I wanted most in the world. You see, I want you now more than any career; I'm going to work."

"Don't," the girl begged of him. "Wait Jackie, wait—awhile. I could not let you give up such promise. You've got to succeed with your talent."

For days after it was the girl who avoided her lover. The Irish woman told Jack at last that Paula had gone away. She would be back, she said, very soon. Then it was that the unbelievable happened: To Jack came an order for five thousand dollars signed by his uncle's solicitor.

The lawyer stated that the donor wished to remain unknown. Jack chuckled gleefully. This was his uncle's way, he reflected, of silently yielding the point.

Jack could scarcely wait for Paula's return, and when she came, his imperious wooing brushed all objection aside.

They were married in the "musical studio" with the old Irish woman and the grim janitor as witnesses.

When it was all over Paula lifted her happy face to meet the rapt joy of her husband's eyes.

"Dear," she said, "now you will have to forgive me. That money did not come from your uncle. It came—through Aunt Riah's will. She left me her money as she promised, Jackie, and when I went away it was to attend aunt's funeral. Your uncle's lawyer and I arranged the note together. He seemed to understand that this money of mine would be a barrier which your proud love could not surmount. Now you can't give me up, Jackie," Paula said. And Paula was right.

THE PROBLEM

By JULIA A. ROBINSON.

(Copyright, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Nanette trudged wearily home after her day's work—that is, she went to her small room in a lodging house. She was tired, and a little discouraged, for the day had been a hard one. She stopped on the first floor to pay the rent for the following week, for she might oversleep in the morning and not have time to see the landlady before going to work; then she would run the risk of losing her room. She always cringed when she paid out those precious dollars; it took so long to earn them, and so much hard work! Then it was that the great blow came.

"From now on it'll be 50 cents more a week," announced the landlady, blandly, not noticing the shock to the girl. "Everything's gone up," she went on.

Nanette gasped, but dared not say a word. How often she had heard that same story. "Everything's gone up!" dreading the result. Now it had come, and what was she to do? Had not things gone up for her as well? Who was to help her on her expenses? She had no one to fall back upon and demand more money of them to meet the high prices for everything she must buy. It was the way they all did, and she dared not protest.

Wearily the girl paid the extra half dollar and mounted the stairs to her lodgings. Somehow, the little room that she had tried to make beautiful with her own simple bric-a-brac, had lost its attraction for her. It no longer looked homelike. She sank into a chair and burst into tears. Everything looked dark before her. "I don't know what I'm going to do," she wailed. "I was paying the limit before, I shall have to go without clothes."

How could she pay the rent and have enough to eat to keep her health on her small salary? They would turn her off if she complained. The world was very cruel. What was the use of living, anyway?

An hour later John came. He had not called for a long time and Nanette was afraid he had forgotten. She brightened up, brushed the tears from her face, and went down to meet him. Perhaps he would take her to the movies; that would help her to forget.

But John was not thinking of the movies. They walked out to the river bank. Moonlight streamed across the river. Passers-by chatted gaily, but John was glum and silent, not at all like himself.

"No, I'm not going to the movies!" he growled, when Nanette dared the suggestion. "Couldn't stand 'em tonight!"

"Why not? What ails you, John? I thought you liked the movies."

"How can you expect a hungry man to enjoy the movies or anything else?" he groaned.

"Hungry? Why, John, you're not hungry, really?"

"Yes, I am."

"But didn't you have your supper? What's the matter with you?"

"Matter enough, I should say!" he stormed, "when a man can't get a decent meal anywhere in the city! You pay all creation and don't get what's fit to eat, and not half enough of it. I'm tired of it."

"Oh, John, it's too bad!" she sympathized. "I was down in the dumps, too, when you came because Mrs. Stokes has raised my rent, and everything costs so much. I confess I go hungry myself sometimes. What are we going to do with such prices?"

John whistled. "That's the problem, and a hard one, too!"

They sat silent for a long time, staring at the ground, too much cast down to talk. Suddenly John asked: "Can you make an omelette, Nanette?"

Nanette laughed. "Why, I used to make them at home. I think I could now, if I had fresh eggs, and a stove to cook them on."

"And a little house to put the stove in," he added. "That's just it, Nanette, it's a home we need. What's the use of dragging on in this way, paying out all your money and having nothing to show for it. Let's go to housekeeping, you and I. We'll have a little house somewhere where we can keep a few hens and have a few green things growing to eat. We can save money, have a good time—and have enough to eat at least!"

He had grown enthusiastic, but Nanette was silent. She had never imagined being wooed in quite that way. It seemed very practical and homely, just to be thinking of eating. She wanted love and romance—but then, John was hungry and she pitied him. Yet she would not yield at once. Her woman's coquetry came to her aid.

"Oh, you want me just for your cook, do you?" she retorted. "Can't you hire some one else for a cook, John?"

He saw the fun lurking in her eyes, and began to understand. "There! I'm a brute," he cried. "I confess this does not sound much like lovemaking, but it is, and I mean it. Leaving the eating and the practical part out of the question, I want you, Nanette. I love you. I've loved you for a long time, but I thought I must wait till I had a pile of money before I told you so. I thought we ought to have enough to begin in style before we got married, but couldn't we begin on just a little, dear? We'd be so much more comfortable—and so happy!" Her eyes twinkled. "And have plenty to eat, John?"

Then he caught her in his arms and kissed her, and the romance which meant so much to both began.

ELKS HOME GETS A BIG IMPETUS

District Deputy W. C. Robertson of Minneapolis, on First Official Visit Stirs up Elks

MORE MEMBERSHIP SOUGHT

Initiation, Oyster Stew Luncheon, Addresses, Exalted Ruler Night Set for February 5

District Deputy W. C. Robertson of Minneapolis paid his first official visit Thursday evening at Brainerd Lodge No. 615 of the Elks and was given an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Robertson has a reputation for arousing the spirit of Elksdom, shaping plans and producing results.

In an address to the lodge, which by the way was the largest meeting, 90 members, held in months, Mr. Robertson pleaded for an Elks home in Brainerd. Now was the time to start a membership campaign as a preliminary to the home, and when Brainerd lodge had doubled its membership, there would speedily follow the building.

Past District Deputy Joseph H. Hilbe of St. Cloud related St. Cloud's experience in home building, the obstacles surmounted and the results accomplished. In conclusion he invited Brainerd members to the big time in St. Cloud on the evening of January 16 and extended also an invitation to the summer state convention in St. Cloud.

Past District Deputy Col. C. D. Johnson delivered a humorous talk which evoked terrific applause.

Exalted Ruler Fred L. Sanborn started the membership campaign then and there and a committee of three is to be appointed to have charge of the drive. Necessary funds were voted the committee.

Past Exalted Rulers night was set for Thursday, February 5. A drawing was held and these past rulers will hold the chairs named: Exalted Ruler, John J. Cummins; Leading Knight, A. J. Ellison; Loyal Knight, C. D. Johnson; Lecturing Knight, C. A. Albright; Esquire, A. J. Halsted; Chaplain, R. R. Gould.

Addresses were made by visiting members and others, there was initiation, and Robert Marsh, secretary of the Crosby Commercial club, was elected to a special office. In the social hour a fast four round boxing exhibition was given by the Ingund brothers.

A luncheon followed with an oyster stew and other delicacies prepared and served under the direction of William Garvey.

A large delegation of Brainerd Elks will go to St. Cloud this afternoon to attend the class initiation there.

SALVATION ARMY

Revival Meetings Commence Tonight at the Salvation Army Hall, 410 Front Street

Capt. O. W. Knapp of the Salvation Army has given the Dispatch this statement:

Revival meetings at the Salvation Army commence tonight, 410 Front street, by the commanding officer, Captain O. W. Knapp.

Mrs. Knapp and Cadet Ester Johnson will furnish us with good singing and instrumental music.

Song service will commence at 7:30 o'clock each evening. Monday evenings will be the only nights off for three weeks.

Attend the meetings, God wants you, and we will welcome you. Come!

The captain was converted at a Salvation Army altar 24 years ago, and has spent 16 years in public work, seven being spent as pastor and evangelist in the Methodist Protestant church, and nine years as an officer in the Salvation Army.

We want everybody to feel free to attend these revival meetings. We all need God and we need the help that comes to us through these special seasons of waiting upon Him, and mingling with those whom we know are interested in us.

Backslider, we want you! Discouraged one, we want you, and you who are neglectful and careless about your self and family of the whole thing, never mind what anyone thinks or says. It is a question of life or death with you. Oh, why will you go on like a coward and die in your sin?

Come for all things are now ready, and again we say come!

Cut this Out—It is Worth Money

DON'T MISS THIS Cut out this slip and enclose with 5c to Foley & Co., 2835 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, Ill., writing your name and address clearly. You will receive in return a trial package containing: Foley's Kidney and Ur Compound, for coughs, colds and croup; Foley Kidney Pills and Foley Cathartic Tablets. H. P. Dunn.

REPORT FOR DECEMBER

City and School Nurse Miss Ethel Beyer Made 62 School Visits. Other Details Given

Report of city and school nurse for month of December:

School visits, 62. No. of pupils examined, physical 28, special 127.

No. of notices of children's defects sent parents: medical 12; surgical, enlarged tonsils and defective nasal breathing, 8; ocular, 3; dental, 4.

No. of defects cared for by physicians: medical, 12; surgical, 4; ocular, 3; dental, 4.

Bedside care: 1; throat cultures, 6; instructive calls, 10.

Communicable diseases: conjunctivitis, 4; measles, 1; chicken pox, 1; scarlet fever, 3.

Tuberculosis clinic: adults, 2; children, 3.

Tuberculosis home calls: adults, 3; children, 3.

Child welfare: home calls, 2.

Truancy 2, health talks 2, mileage 441 miles.

Children taken to tuberculosis clinic—Malnutrition symptoms.

Sputum examination and regular temperature chart ordered as follow-up work. Gathered data for a report on sub-normals in view of a possible Opportunity Room.

Worked with committee of Women's Community Council to investigate milk supply and distribution.

Taught normal class in high school in "Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick."

Dr. Green, field worker, for the State Board of Health, investigated conjunctivitis.

Red Cross loaned bedding for baby with pneumonia.

Harrison school thoroughly cleaned during vacation, as protection against scarlet fever.

Volunteer small pox vaccinations by the local physicians, the school board furnishing the vaccine points.

The city and school nurse gives bedside care only in case of an emergency or as a demonstration. It would be impossible for anyone in a city of this size to do the work of a public health nurse and also do bedside nursing. A further development of health work in our city would be the establishing of an hourly nursing bureau.

BREAKS WRIST

Seven Year Old Marie Culver of Walker, Sent to Brainerd for Treatment

(Walker Pilot)

Marie, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Culver, broke her right arm at the wrist Saturday morning while playing at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Seider at Benedict. The little girl was climbing a ladder into the attic when she slipped and fell nine feet to the floor below. She was rushed to the Walker hospital where the broken wrist was bandaged. On Wednesday morning she was taken to Brainerd where an X-ray examination was made. It is not thought that the injury will be permanent.

Obituary

Mrs. Ann Clarke was born in Sheffield, England, July 19, 1835 and was married in 1859 to Henry Clarke. Shortly after her marriage they removed to Montreal, Canada, where they made their home a number of years.

In 1880 they removed to Brainerd. Eight children were born to them, of whom four are living. Mr. Clarke died in Brainerd. Five years ago she removed to Minneapolis where she made her home with her daughters. She enjoyed comparatively good health and was ill just a few hours previous to her death.

The funeral services were held Thursday from the home of Adam Hayne in Brainerd, Rev. Hans J. Wolner, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiating.

The four children to mourn her passing away are John Clarke of Calejo, Calif.; Mrs. S. C. Hill of Oakland, Calif.; Miss Mary E. Clarke and Mrs. C. A. Roberts of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Clarke was a woman of high ideals, and held in esteem because of her many charitable and kind acts. She will be missed in her home circle and by her associates.

Continue the Good Work

The boys at the Whittier school were right on the job this morning cleaning the snow from the sidewalks much to their credit.

The Whittier school today hoisted the national emblem in memory of the deceased of John Barleycorn, the national prohibition amendment becoming effective at 12 o'clock tonight.

REPORT ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL ASSN.

$494.03 Collected in Crow Wing County by Volunteers Under Judge C. A. Albright

BRAINERD DONATED WELL

Each Contributor Will Soon Receive His Certificate of Membership in Association

The total amount collected in Crow Wing county by the Roosevelt Memorial fund of which C. A. Albright was county chairman, amounted to $494.03.

In the city of Brainerd these contributions were made:

First ward, $89.95; Second ward, $144.50; Third ward, $24.75; Fifth ward, $25.10. City in general outside of schools, $59.80. School in city of Brainerd, $33.01.

Outside of the city Ironton contributed $50, Deerwood $33.64, Pequot $24.60.

Rural schools through the county superintendent contributed $9.58.

The number of persons contributing was 1,268, with schools having the largest representation.

Word has been received from Geo. H. Prince, state treasurer of the memorial association, that the certificates of membership have not yet been received by the state officers, but are expected shortly and as soon as forwarded to the county chairman, will be distributed in turn among the local chairmen and individuals.

In behalf of the Roosevelt Memorial association locally and otherwise, the county chairman wishes to thank all who assisted making donations possible and he trusts they will not be disappointed in the work of the committee in its selection of the memorial.

J. O. STEWART

Was One of Oldest Engineers in Northern Pacific Service, Lived in Brainerd at One Time

The Staples World refers to the death of J. O. Stewart of Staples in Brainerd. He was one of the oldest and best known engineers on the Northern Pacific. He was born in Covington, Ind., Sept. 24, 1852. In his early youth the family moved to Michigan where he grew up and began his railroad career in Jackson by firing for his father who was an engineer on the Michigan Central.

He came to Minnesota in 1881, settling in Brainerd, and had since that time been with the Northern Pacific as an engineer.

In 1885 he married Eleanor Walters in Brainerd. Two children were born to them, Fred, who is now in the U. S. Navy at San Diego, Calif., and Edith, now Mrs. George Orleman, who resides at Des Moines, Iowa. Two brothers and a sister also survive him.

Mr. Stewart was a charter member of the K. of P. lodge in Staples taking the demit from White Cross lodge No. 39 of Brainerd and affiliating with the Medinah lodge No. 84 of Staples in 1894. He was deeply interested and very active in his lodge and will be greatly missed by all the members of the fraternity. He was also a charter member of the Pythian Sisters and of Crescent Lodge No. 267, A. F. and A. M.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, Jan. 7 at two o'clock in the Congregational church, Rev. W. H. Johnson officiating. The Knight of Pythias attended in a body and conducted the services at the grave. Beautiful music was rendered at the church by the members of the Star quartet. Interment was made in the Evergreen Hill cemetery.

Relatives and friends from out of town attending the services were W. M. Stewart, a brother, and wife of St. Paul; Earl Arundel, a nephew, St. Paul; George Orleman, son-in-law, Des Moines, Ia.; Chas. Johnson, Brainerd; H. M. Curry, Mechanical Supt. N. P. system and wife of St. Paul.

BIG TIME IN ST. CLOUD Elks Lodge There Will Have a Big Initiation, 50 Candidates, Glee Club, Etc., Tonight

(St. Cloud Journal Press)

A big entertainment, following an initiation of 50 candidates tonight, is on the boards for the members of the St. Cloud lodge of Elks. The entertainment committee has been working on the details of the program for the last several weeks and have announced their plan in circulars which have been mailed to the members.

Fifty candidates will be initiated into the lodge, under special dispensation which has been issued by Grand Exalted Ruler Frank L. Rain. At the conclusion of the initiatory exercises there will be a program by the Glee club, assisted by the orchestra. New songs, catchy music and clever dancing are promised in this entertainment.

Balance on hand	$194.46
Interest	28.62
Total balance	$ 29.12

The members of Liberty Hose Co. No. 1 have volunteered to take charge of the skating rink this season. They have done considerable work on the same, and everything is now ready to turn on the water, but there being some trouble with the hydrants nearest the rink it will be impossible to flood the rink until the hydrants have been attended to. Upon motion the secretary was instructed to turn over the balance in the skating fund amounting to $29.12 to the Hose Co. for skating rink purposes.

The secretary called attention of the league to the fact that, seemingly a large amount of money had been spent for the short skating season last year. It must be taken into consideration, however, that $135.96 of the whole amount expended was put into a permanent improvement, namely the warming house, which was put up substantially and will be good for many seasons if it is properly taken care of.

It was reported to the league that a good many hydrants of this ward were either frozen or out of repair which would be a serious handicap in case of a fire. It was moved and carried to call the attention of the Water & Light board to this matter. The park committee reported and asked for further time which was granted.

In the matter of repaving Kindred street there was considerable discussion and the league expressed itself as decidedly against the idea of paving only the north half of this street as has been suggested. A committee of five, consisting of Richard Hie, H. A. Kaatz, Oscar Swanson, Alvin Arnold and C. W. Keating, was appointed to appear before the city council and protest any such action. This committee was also instructed to call the attention of the council to the condition of Third avenue.

This is the first street in Brainerd paved with concrete, is going to ruin rapidly on account of the great traffic and lack of upkeep. The new city charter provides a fund for this very purpose and Third avenue should be the first street put in repair this season.

The committee should also call attention to the laying of the water mains on Kindred street. These mains should be laid as soon as the weather permits so that this will not interfere with the paving of this street which is to be the first to be repaved.

HUGO A. KAATZ, Secretary.

Origin of "A 1"

"A 1" is a symbol originating in the Lloyd's Maritime Insurance association denoting a ship that has been found first-class in construction and equipment. The "A" is for good construction and the "1" for good equipment.

FRATERNAL BOWLING LEAGUE ORGANIZED

The many sport enthusiasts of the city will be pleased to hear that a Fraternal Bowling League has been organized in Brainerd.

Representatives of the Eagles, Elks, Moose, K. C., K. P. and Workmen orders, met Wednesday night at the First National bank for the purpose of electing officers and adopting a schedule.

A fifteen match 45-game schedule was adopted to start Monday night, Jan. 19th, at 7:30 o'clock. All the matches will be rolled on Mondays using the six alleys at Cook's at one time.

Sinn Feiners Successful in Municipal Election

(By United Press)

Dublin, Jan. 16—Sinn Fein candidates swept the west and south in yesterday's municipal election, returns today indicated. In the event complete returns show a grand majority in local counts, Sinn Fein leaders plan as the first act a declaration of principles of the "Irish republic." Then they will proceed to carry on the government according to these principles ignoring the veto of Dublin Castle.

There was a foregone conclusion that H. Kelly, member of parliament, now under arrest and in jail in England, has been elected by an overwhelming majority.

Sinn Feiners Attack Party Guests

(By United Press)

Dublin, Jan. 16—Armed Sinn Feiners attacked a party of guests going to a ball given by Major Perce at Loughrea, 21 miles southeast of Galway, Tuesday night according to a report here.

Army officers in the party repelled the Sinn Feiners after a spirited revolver battle.

The Sinn Fein campaign against the government orders prohibiting the use of automobiles without driving permits has caused conditions to border on anarchy on the south and west. Drivers have refused to apply for a permit and so have banished use of motor cars throughout the country. Machines have been held up by masked armed gangs who have terrorized the occupants and have taken the cars from them.

Hacking Coughs

"Granmy" Chamberlain

"For Hacking Coughs that rob you of your sleep till your system becomes so run down that you are in grave danger of Pneumonia or Consumption, the kind that almost tear you to pieces, that make your head ache, your throat sore and inflamed, take

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

It soothes and heals the inflamed air passages, stops the tickling in the throat, and by its tonic effect enables you to throw off the disease. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is quite different from the ordinary cough medicine, for it not only soothes but also heals, so that the effected parts are restored to a healthy condition and the danger of a future attack is removed. I firmly believe that it is the best and most reliable preparation ever produced for coughs and colds."

Where the Spike Went.

Answering a question as to what became of the gold spike that was driven into the last rail laid in building the Union Pacific railroad on its completion in 1869, a subscriber writes: "It was first photographed, and then melted up and recast into very small spikes about 15-16ths of an inch long, and they were distributed to the more prominent railroad men present. Among the recipients was my father, now deceased, from whom I received one of the photographs mentioned and a miniature gold spike. There are probably very few of these now in existence. The original spike was full size and engraved with the officers' names and titles. The miniature was engraved with the date, May 10, 1869, and the words: 'Last spike of the Pacific Railway,' and 'Presented by D. Hewes.'"—Outlook.

GATEWAY THAT COSTS LITTLE

Entrance Constructed of Plain Lumber in Standard Dimension Always Easy to Procure.

The gateway here shown was very economically constructed by using lumber supplied in standard dimensions, reports Popular Mechanics Magazine. The uprights are 4 by 4 inches; the lower crosspieces and fence rails, 2 by 4 inches, and the fence spindles and upper crosspieces of the gate, 2 by 2 inches, as are also the short horizontal strips which extend at right angles between the crosspieces, to support vines over the archway. The arches are made of basswood, which is easily bent into shape after being soaked overnight in water. The structure was

By Using Cheap Lumber, an Ornamental Gateway Is Erected at the Entrance to an Undeveloped Park at Trifling Cost.

Painted white, with the exception of the fence spindles, which were given a brown tone; but the color scheme in such a case depends on the surroundings. At very slight expense a gateway of this kind greatly improves the entrance to a farm, a small park, or even a private residence. The example shown stands at the side entrance to a large park, to serve until the development of the neighborhood will make possible something of a more substantial nature.

BETTER THAN WOODEN FENCE

Wall Constructed of Loose Stones Has Many Points of Superiority—Harmonizes With Nature.

The New England stone wall, as a feature in landscape scenery, is sometimes spoken of as a deformity; yet it cannot be denied that the same lines of wooden fence would mar the beauty of our prospect in a greater degree. On account of the loose manner in which the stones are laid one upon another, as well as the character of the materials, this wall harmonizes with the rude aspects of nature better than any kind of masonry. It seems to be less of a blemish than a trimmed hedge or any other kind of fence, unless in ornamental grounds. In wild pastures and lands devoted to rustic labor, the stone wall is the most picturesque boundary mark that has yet been invented. A trimmed hedge in such places would present to the eye an intolerable formality. One of the charms of the loose stone wall is the manifest ease with which it may be overleaped. It menaces no infringement of our liberties. When we look abroad upon the face of a country subdivided only by long lines of loose stones, and overgrown with vines and shrubbery, we feel no sense of constraint. . . . Fences are deformities of prospect which we are obliged to use and tolerate. But the loose stone wall only is expressive of the freedom which is grateful to the traveler and the rambling.—Wilson Flagg.

Best to Build for Oneself.

The advice to the citizen to build his own home, if possible, is good. When a man builds for himself and his family he knows precisely what he gets, and he gets the kind of home he likes. It is better suited to the needs of himself and his family than is one that has been constructed for some other family. The cost of such construction may seem high, but good judges of values believe that an investment of this kind, made carefully and wisely, is the soundest and most satisfactory in the long run.

Roadside Fruit Trees.

The genius of the roadside fruit or nut tree is the hospitality which it symbolizes, and the spirit of neighborly co-operation. It is an established institution in parts of Europe, as in France, Italy and Germany. It is a practice worth thinking about. Both esthetic and utilitarian purposes would be served by general adoption of the rule in communities sufficiently organized to give necessary care to the trees once they have been planted.

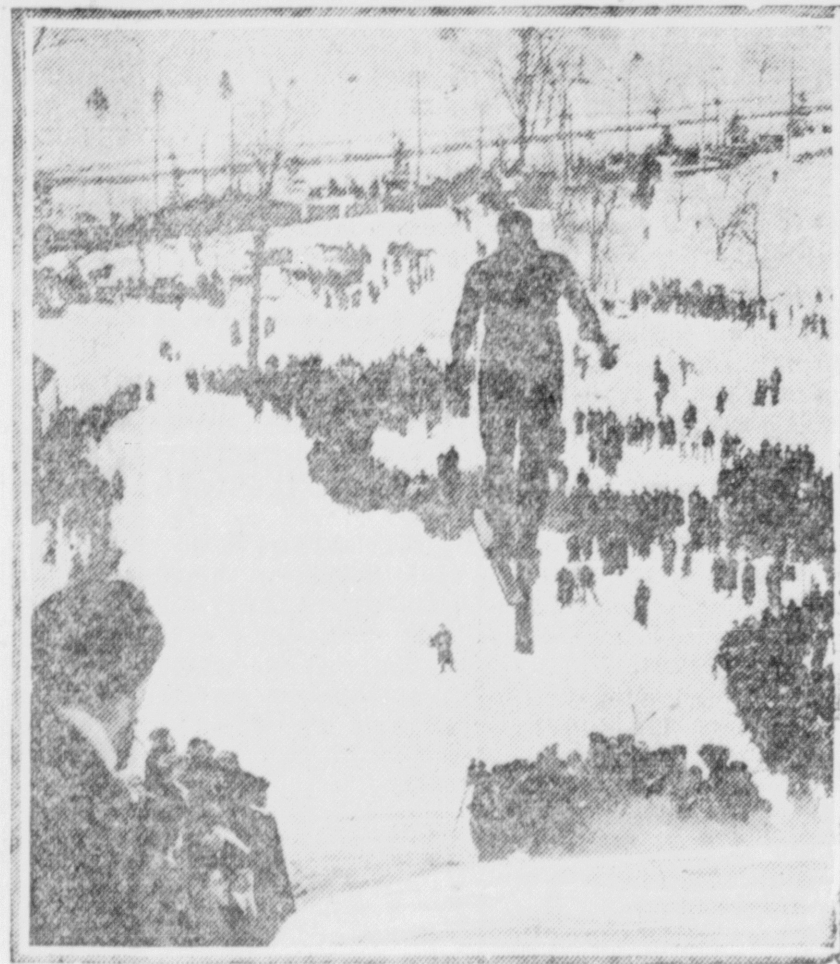

Big Production of Fats.

The production of animal fats, exclusive of butterfat, equal to but 70 per cent of the vegetable oil output of the United States in 1912, rose in 1917 to nearly 80 per cent. Including butter, in 1912 the quantity of animal fats was approximately twice as great as that of vegetable oils, while in 1917 the production of the two classes of fats and oils was nearly the same.

It is a great pity that we must experiment with a score of follies, most of them hoary with age, before we can arrive at a point of wisdom.—Sir Richard Cooke.

Canadian Ski Jumper Leaving Take-Off for Long Flight Down Mount Royal

Although the snow shoe originated in Canada, the Norwegian ski is dividing popularity with it. Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa ski jumpers are enjoying the sport now on the natural jumps down mountain side. One of the best jumps is the Cote des Neiges on the slopes of Mt. Royal, in Montreal. The jumper seen in the photograph soared 75 feet through the air before alighting on the slope far below. Much longer jumps are made from artificial take-offs in less mountainous country. Great crowds gather to watch the daring sportsmen.

Search for Finer Wool.

The possibility of developing new sources of fine wool has been suggested. Referring in Nature to a new search for the golden fleece, Prof. J. C. Ewart of the University of Edinburgh states that the first domesticated sheep in Europe were undoubtedly introduced about 7000 B. C., and that nearly pure descendants of this ancient Neolithic breed—a urial, Ovis viignei—still survive on the small uninhabited island of Soay (Sheep Island), near St. Kilda. Crosses between Soay and Southdown sheep yield excellent mutton, with wool of remarkable strength and quality; and the late discoveries indicate that crosses of the urial with other wild types may yield still finer and more beautiful wool. These discoveries include that of wool forming the inner coat of several of the wild sheep of Asia. This wool is longer than that of the Soay sheep, and decidedly finer than and quite as white as superfine

Australian merino, regarded as the finest and whitest wool in the world.

Causes of Thunderstorm.

Two kinds of thunderstorms are generally recognized—one due to heat and usually local, and the other accompanying the squalls forming in the southern sectors of low pressure areas. A third type, "storms of cold," has been lately added by a French meteorologist. It occurs as cold air travels southward into a region of high temperature and southerly upper winds. The clouds forming the development limit of the cold wave develop thunderstorms, which are carried northward by the upper south wind, this traveling backward through the zone of cold air.

Mechanical Stoking Patent.

The first patent for mechanical stoking was taken out in 1785, the invention of James Watt.

Ancient Mesopotamia.
Survey research work in Mesopotamia has revealed the fact that in former times the country was covered with a network of canals, showing that a very celebrated system of irrigation must then have been in vogue. Some of these canals were 20 feet deep with steep embankments. This interesting information was stated by Lieut. Col. G. A. Benzeley, royal engineers, in a lecture given by him at the British Royal Geographical society recently. He also brought to light the fact that the city of Samarra, which is now a comparatively unimportant town, at a period before the Christian era must have been one of the most populous trading centers of the East. The ancient city was 20 miles in length and 2½ in width, and it is estimated that it contained about 4,000,000 inhabitants. There were miles of walls and warehouses, and it formed a converging point for caravans from a vast area. Another city in Mesopotamia, the lecturer said, showed traces of having been laid out on the lines of a modern American city.

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free.

"Cakes and Beer, and Washing Here"

Before a ramshackle house in a little New England village there used to hang this sign:

"Hiram, the widow's son, I hope
"Can furnish customers with soap,
"Such as will make the washing day
"Pass off as pleasant, e'en as May.
"Cakes, and beer, and washing here."

Hiram had the right idea. He knew that there were people who wanted what he had to sell. The difference between Hiram and the modern advertiser is that the former had to trust to somebody passing to see his sign. He could not bring his sign to everybody.

The modern advertiser with something to sell that he feels you want, saves you the trouble of going to his place to see about it. Readers of advertisements visit all the advertisers at a single sitting.

This is a service that those who advertise are rendering you, just as the clerks they hire, the deliveries they make, are service. They are saving your time, energy and money by bringing their establishments to you through the advertisements.
